

On Their Way to the Battlefields of the World War

FRENCH LANCERS PASSING THROUGH A LITTLE TOWN IN BELGIUM, IN AUGUST OF 1914, OVER ROADS THAT SOON WERE TO BE SWEEPED BY SHELLS AND THROUGH A SMILING COUNTRYSIDE, AS YET UNVEXED BY WAR.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

ESPECIALLY PICTURESQUE WERE THE ALGERIAN CAVALRY, SPLENDIDLY MOUNTED, AND FILLED WITH WARLIKE ARDOR THAT MADE THEM A MOST VALUABLE AUXILIARY TO THE CAUSE OF THE ALLIES.

(© International News Service.)